Now On Way To Rest

Will Rogers

The whole world mourns the tragic deaths of Wiley Post, famed flier, and Will Rogers, renowned humorist and actor, who were killed when their airplane crashed near Point Barrow, Alaska, one of the world's most northerly outposts. Post, famous round-the-globe flier, and Rogers were on a sightseeing jaunt in Alaska, and were planning an aerial hunting trip in Siberia. Latest news shows that Will Rogers, left, and Wiley Post just before the take-off from Seattle to Fairbanks, Alaska. NEW FLEW, FORCED PILOT DANGLED

TROPIC VALE IS ALL MYTH SAYS CAMSELL

NORTH HIS HOME

Born at Fort Liard 30 years ago where his father was Hudson's Bay factor, Dr. Charles Camsell said that the north is his home. At 18 he came to B.A. at Manitoba valley and since then has spent his life as a pioneer.

In 1907 he sought a terminal for the Alberta Central Railway on the Peace River, the tip of Hudson's Bay and in 1909 he served as geologist with a party surveying the Peace River country. The years 1900 to 1911 found him following geology for the British Columbia branch of the Geological Survey and in 1919 he assumed head of the Dominion survey.

As chief of this department he found his work included the exploration and mapping of Canada's northland and he set out to do the job first hand—not from behind the comfortable protection of a top fog desk in Ottawa. During the war years he served Canada by locating mineral deposits needed in the manufacture of munitions.

NATIONWIDE REPUTATION

With all his experience gained in the field of action at hand, 1919 found him with a nationwide reputation and his appointment as geologist minister of mines was made. Since that time he has made periodic visits from the nation's capital back to the land of his birth, the badlands of the Nahanni and Liard river, among the steaming tropical valleys he has been seeking, and now finds do not exist. He left Sunday night on Canadian National line for Ottawa.

Dr. Camsell Gives His Own Story

The following account is part of his last completed serial geological survey written for The Canadian Press by Dr. Camsell.

BY DR. CHARLES CAMSELL

The aerial flight of some 4,000 miles, which commenced at Prince Rupert, B.C., and ended at Edmonton, was undertaken for the purpose of inspecting the work of several geological parties working in Canada, B.C., the north arm of Great Slave Lake and Beaver Lake, Alberta Lake.

In addition, observations and investigations were made into a number of questions concerned with the administration of the Northwest Territories on behalf of the council of the N.W. Territories, of which I have been a member for three years.

A third subject of enquiry was to determine what happens to the Rocky Mountains in latitude 60 degrees where the Liard river cuts across them. These ranges which rise from the north to the south and Canada come to rise down when they strike the Liard river, and it has always been a question with geographers whether or not they are one or whether the Mackenzie mountains are a separate range, isolated from the Rockies.

THOSE IN PARTY

The party consisted of Mr. C. H. Dickins, pilot, W. Sunderland, photographer and mechanic, A. D. MacLean, superintendent of the Civil Aviation Branch of the National Defense Dept. and myself. The plane, a Parnall 7, was provided by Canadian Airways, and equipped with a radio set and a first-aid kit. Everything was carried out as planned and except for delays on account of weather at Norman and Cameron Bay, the flight was entirely successful.

FLIGHT OF INTEREST

The flight was of intense interest to me all the way, because, with the exception of the unknown territory north of Liard river, I had travelled over practically every foot of the way on snowshoes or by canoe trail, however, some years to do it. This trip, including some six days delay on account of bad weather, was made in sixteen days.

COMPLETE LARGE MAP

As for results, there will be included in an official report to the government. This much, however, may be said, that much first hand information was obtained that will be useful in the administration of the affairs of the Northwest Territories. Also now know what happens to the Rocky Mountains north of latitude 60 degrees in south eastern Yukon, and this information will be used to complete a large relief map of Canada now under construction by the geological survey at Ottawa.

MYTH EXPLODED

For many years the idea of tropical valleys on the Liard river country has stimulated the imagination of newspaper writers, and it is unfortunate that one has to explode these ideas. The tropical valley on the Liard river is associated with the name of Tom Smith, a Yukon trapper and his daughter Jane, who lived for some years at some springs near the Devil's gorge. With two years' catch of fur Tom Smith left his cabin at the hot springs in a bark canoe, and his boat was wrecked in a whirlpool. His outfit was behind him and he himself was drowned. His daughter, who was a beautiful girl, was taken ashore and by some means found her way to Ft. Liard, a hundred miles or more away. She died last year at Hay River and could never be induced to tell much of her experiences.

ON OUR FIRST FLIGHT

On our first flight down the Liard river, we noted some open patches in the timber that looked like a bare ground. I was asked to go and see. I went and found a point where I had camped in March 1908 on my way to the Klondike and where we also had found some springs. We landed near them on our second flight. After scouting along the bank, MacLean and I found a trail running up to the bench and through the woods. Following this for a third of a mile, we came to a broken down cabin with a tree across the roof. On the door of the cabin was a notice in block letters reading "Moved to the Hot Springs" with a hand pointing northward.

OPEN MEADOW

Following the trail farther in this direction, we came to an open meadow on which the vegetation was most luxuriant. But of a kind common to the country. Timothy in the meadow was growing very tall and here the vegetation was correspondingly rank. We could only follow the trail through the meadow by feeling for it with our feet and we frequently lost it. By scouting around the end of the meadow we again picked up the trail and after following it for two or three hundred yards, came into a beautiful grove of large spruce and poplar.

The name tropical valley is a misnomer. There are here no palms or other tropical plants, no dinosaurs or mammoths that are everywhere else exist, simply a rank luxuriant vegetation, resulting from the adjacent springs.

Such springs are not uncommon in the region. They are known as "Dead" rivers about fifteen or twenty miles south of Liard river, and again on the Nahanni about fifteen miles above the mouth where the water is quite hot. Two other localities were noted on our flight, one on each side of the river at the Devil's Gorge which appeared from the air to be springs, but whether of hot or cold water we could not determine because of the difficulty of landing near by. Why these springs occur at these points and the reason for their temperature, including Duncan McDonald, our Liberal candidate.

PREDICT HOWSON WIN

"I predict that W. B. Howson goes back to Edmonton on August 22 with forty five Liberal seats, including Duncan McDonald, our Liberal candidate."

"The C.P.C. told us in the past B.C. election that they were going to take over the means of production but I told them that a Lieutenant Governor's signature was re-demanded radical legislation must realize that all details of Canada's monetary system were in the hands of the Dominion government. But, as Mr. McGee was anxious to tell goods to Alberta, but non-negotiable certificates would not be acceptable. In his annual, Mr. Abernethy would buy money orders at the place mentioned in connection with British Columbia's Lieutenant Governor.

MONETARY REFORMERS AND OTHERS

HAS NO POWER

"No provincial parliament has the power to set up a state credit bank," the speaker continued, "and no lieutenant governor, who is appointed by His Majesty and who is not responsible to the people for his acts, would sign such legislation."

"WHOEVER HEARD OF A GROUP OF intelligent men coming before the legislature with proposals so ridiculous as those of Mr. Abernethy," Mayor McGee enquired.

"YOU'LL SET UP SOMETHING WHICH will make you the laughing stock of the whole Dominion. If there is any expert who can put the Abernethy plan into effect, I want to know where he comes from. Further I ask you to show me one single example in the Abernethy plan who can qualify for the job; one single public administrator, one single business administrator, an authority on currency or credit, who will say that the Abernethy plan is sound or practical," Mayor McGee challenged.

"EVERY MAN WHO HAS EXAMINED the plan says that it is the kind which, instead of emanating from the schoolroom, might have come out of a lunatic asylum."

TAXI DRIVER JOINS ROGERS IN DEATH

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19.—A taxi driver who left a note expressing his desire to die in death "My dear friend, Mr. Rogers," said and killed himself as he sat in his cab in front of a downtown theatre Saturday.

PILOT LOWERS HIMSELF FIRST TO MAKE REPAIRS

While Inexperienced Passenger Handles Stick For 40 Minutes.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19.—Don Long, 35, never had held the stick of an airplane in his life, but he flew a plane over municipal airport for 40 minutes late Saturday.

He flew the plane because he had to, while the pilot, Dick Field, 30, lowered himself head first and fastened a wheel that had come loose in taking off. Two other persons were in the private plane.

FIELD DISCOVERED THE DANGLING

wheel shortly after the plane left the ground. To Long he said, "You've got to fix this plane."

Field crawled out on the struts, hung to them and tried to kick the wheel back in place. It was no use.

FINALLY SUCCEEDED

Field then, weighted a rope with a fire extinguisher, hooked his feet in his safety belt, hung from the side of the plane and fumbled for nearly 40 minutes. Finally he succeeded in fastening the wheel to the struts from which it had slipped. He couldn't screw it tight, so he told Long and the other passengers, Mrs. Estelle Carrel, 18, and Jack Baldwin, 10, to pull with all their strength on a rope to hold the wheel on.

"I'll take the plane down," Field said. "If it doesn't bounce, we're all set."

The plane didn't bounce and the emergency and the truck and the spectators went away.

Some one asked Long how it felt to be a pilot. Long, very pale, licked his lips.

"I feel," he said, "I can't feel, I'm numb."

Farm Loans

REGINA, Aug. 19.—J. F. Anderson, commissioner federal farm loans board, announced Friday loans totalling over $300,000 have been made farmers or awaiting dispatch. He expected $400,000 would be loaned before the end of the year. More than 2,000 applications have been received, 1,500 in one week, and are receiving consideration. Fifty appraisers are at work throughout the province.

JOINING LIBERAL RANKS

"This province is joining the ranks of Liberalism next week. It will be one of the greatest victories in Canada. On the fourth of October a great national parliament will be formed again. I'll be there myself. I'm going to fight for a purpose. To place the wages of men above the wages of money and to take the people away from the slavery of usury."

"THE GREAT PARADE OF PROGRESS comes on. The jockeys may balk but progress is unceasing. I am grateful that, despite the inconstant interruptions, so many thoughtful people remained with us."

Mayor McGee was introduced by J. H. MacIntyre and was given an ovation as he concluded.

BIRDS seldom fly merely for the pleasure of flying. In many instances, birds which once possessed wings have lost the power of flight because it was no longer necessary in their struggle for existence. The penguin is an example.

LIST OF CANDIDATES TO BE VOTED ON AUG. 22

Liberal Candidates for the Six Edmonton Seats—Vote Them in the Order of Your Preference

Conroy, Marion,
of 1008 12th Street, Edmonton,
Housewife.

Howson, William Robinson, of 1107 4th Avenue, Edmonton,
Barrister.

Marshall, John Campbell Mack,
of 1008 12th Street, Edmonton,
Life Underwriter.

Morris, Walter,
of 403 12th Street, Edmonton,
Physician and Surgeon.

O'Connor, Gerald,
of 1008 12th Street, Edmonton,

Van Allen, George Harold,
of 403 12th Street, Edmonton,
Barrister.

How You Can Vote For Twenty-Seven Candidates And Not Lose Your Vote

The list below gives you a clear idea of how the names of all Edmonton candidates will appear on the ballot given you when you go to the polls on Thursday, August 22.

The black figures on the right opposite each candidate's name is the place you will mark your numbers. You will notice that no information is given as to which party the candidates belong to. It is important, you decide the order (from your first choice number 1 to 27) in which you are going to mark your ballot before going to the polling booth.

The manner in which the list is marked with the figures 1 to 27 shows you how one may vote. This marked list gives Mr. Howson first choice and the other five Liberal candidates (larger type) in the order they were nominated. Next the Labor candidates are favored, then the Conservatives with all others in the highest figures.

Political Leaders Advise Electors On Marking Of Ballots

In Exercising Franchise Use Figures, Do Not Mark With an X, and Above All Don't Plump

Use figures on your ballot—do not mark with an X—and, above all, don't plump.

That is the advice of leaders of all political parties in the coming elections, and the rank and file elector would do well to heed it if he or she wishes to save his or her ballot.

"In exercising your franchise under the proportional representation system of voting in the cities where six members are to be elected, it is important to keep in mind the simple principle of this voting system, namely, that the elector is entitled to only one vote, no matter how many members are to be elected in the constituency," said one expert today after giving the matter careful consideration.

"Keeping this fact in mind it is important that the voter exhausts his or her entire choice on the Edmonton city ballot by marking it 1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9-10-11-12-13-14-15-16-17-18-19-20-21-22-23-24-25-26-27, the entire list of candidates in the order of preference.

"By doing this the voter is simply instructing the Returning Officer how to cast his vote should the favorite candidate of the elector be eliminated or if he has a surplus of votes over the quota and your ballot happens to be among the surplus ballots.

Do Not Ignore It

"If you ignore this method of voting and your favorite candidate is eliminated you might just as well have not voted, as your ballot immediately ceases to function. There is no danger of 'plumping'.

"In the rural constituencies, where there is only one member to be elected and the Single Transferable vote system is used the same principles apply. Vote for your favorite first and your next favorites after.

"But be sure to exhaust your ballot. Place the candidates in the order of your preference and leave the rest to the Returning Officer, who has definite instructions under the Election Act as to how to count the vote. The voter does not need to understand the complicated counting method. All he needs to understand is how to vote for his preferences, and the above is the method that should be used. Exhaust your ballot, giving your favorite candidate first choice, and the others in their order of preference."

Here's how it works out in the city of Edmonton, where six candidates are to be elected at large.

Remember, every voter has a single vote in a district electing several members and every voter has a chance to express alternative choices. His vote is not wasted on a candidate who does not need it or cannot use it. It might be his first choice or his sixth or fifteenth choice which will score a "bull's eye," but if he "plumps" his vote he must make a direct hit in order to score. Even then it might be useless should it be one of those used in counting surplus votes because it was not needed in the main count, the candidate of his choice having too many votes.

How System Works

The quota necessary to elect a member is arrived at by dividing the total number of valid votes cast by one more than the number of members to be elected, and taking the whole number next larger than the resulting quotient.

For instance in the coming election should the number of votes cast be 30,000 then the quota required for a member to be elected is 4,286 votes.

Should a candidate receive 5,000 first choices, those 5,000 are taken and the returning officer ascertains how many second choices are marked for each of the other candidates. They give each of these candidates the same proportion of the surplus as his second choices bear to the 5,000.

The next procedure is to eliminate the candidate receiving the smallest number of first choices. The ballots of the candidate so eliminated will then have their second choices counted and placed to the credit of the candidate so marked.

As soon as a ballot "clicks" it becomes dead. It cannot help to elect more than one candidate.

Dr. H. Seelheim Is Bruderheim Visitor

LAMONT, Aug. 18.—Dr. H. Seelheim of Winnipeg, German consul general for Western Canada, his wife and son, Henry, and Dr. Marie Melike visited the German people in the Bruderheim settlement while on their visit west to be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Litz. While there they also visited Rev. Wolff, St. Paul's church minister, and Mrs. Wolff. The letter and the lady doctor are old acquaintances from Hamburg, Germany. The group also stopped off at Lamont on their trip through Winnipeg.

Pay $3,000 Fines
MONTREAL, Aug. 18.—A total of $3,000 Montreal merchants have laid approximately $3,000 in fines and costs into Montreal's recorder's court since May 1 for infraction of the two per cent sales tax law. It was announced by Camille Teitelbaum, city attorney.

CARE URGED IN MARKING OF BALLOTS

Easy to Spoil Vote Declares Chief Electoral Officer

In the 1930 general election 430 Edmonton citizens disenfranchised themselves by not marking their ballots correctly. The 1935 general election will be held on Thursday next and John D. Hunt, chief electoral officer, has formulated a series of suggestions, which are designed to assist the elector in correctly marking ballots.

"On receiving his blank ballot," said Mr. Hunt, "the voter should go into the booth and mark it with the pencil supplied. He should not use indelible pencil or fountain pen. He should mark opposite the names of the candidates his choice, using the figures 1, 2, 3, and making as many choices as there are candidates."

"He should not make any mark on the ballot except the simple figures."

BE CAREFUL

"Words, letters, brackets, quotation marks, punctuation marks, underlining, over-inking or marks of any kind are liable to cause the ballot to be thrown out. If a voter happens to make some mark on a ballot that would spoil it, he should return the ballot to the deputy returning officer and get another."

Explaining the system by which ballots are counted, Mr. Hunt stated that as soon as the poll closes the ballot box for each candidate in a separate pile. Where there are a large number of ballots it is advisable to use a rubber band around each 50. Candidates and scrutineers may look at a ballot but none may be allowed to handle it except the returning officer. He then counts the number of first choices only. He should pay no attention to second choices, as they are not counted.

"The returning officer goes to the ballot box, making piles of first choices for the same and if any candidate has a majority of all the first choices cast he is elected without any further counting."

"If no one then has a majority the one with the fewest ballots is declared defeated. His pile of ballots is then picked up and the ballots given to the remaining candidates according to the second choices marked on his original ballots, and according to the third choices marked on the pile that may have been marked on his original ballots. This process is kept up until one candidate has a majority."

"The main feature to be noted in this connection is that the ballots of the defeated candidates are carried to the piles of ballots of the defeated candidates according to the next choices on each."

Chester Ranning Gets Rough Time At Donalda Meet
DONALDA, Aug. 18.—C. A. Ranning, U.F.A. candidate for the Camrose provincial constituency found this an eventful place to hold a meeting.

Shortly after Rev. Joseph Bannister opened the meeting, the floor of the hall began to give way. Mr. Ranning, by act and presence of mind, averted panic. There were some boisterous disturbances during the meeting and many good questions put to the speaker, who answered all the hecklers, however, were thought to be a make-a-way Social Credit group.

To put a finishing touch on the evening, the meeting, J. E. Lovett of Camrose, who was in charge of the meeting, had a band and his home town, found the party a real success. Some mischief had been found away at the bottom of the radiator. The R.C.M.P. officer at Donalda was called in to investigate.

CITY LIBERALS GIVE OUTLINE OF POLICIES

Candidates Given Warm
Welcome in North Edmonton Saturday

Braving mud and torrential rain, a stalwart band of supporters welcomed the Liberal candidates on Saturday night at Lotosky's hall, North Edmonton.

Every attention was given to the speakers by Mrs. Conroy, who, the audience how to find out which party will be the best for the city during the next five years. Jack Marshall explained what the Liberal party hoped to do for the people and Dr. Walter Morrison described his program for the expansion of education in both city and rural districts.

He refuted the statement, contained in a letter to the press, that the Liberal party was in a position to be better prepared any other party to carry out their policies than any other party. There is no such thing as a Liberal government in every province in Canada and the speaker is in a position to carry out their policies in the city of Edmonton.

Mrs. Conroy and Jack Marshall were applauded for their stated intention of obtaining improvements in the old age pension, mother's allowances and workmen's compensation acts.

TITLES EXPLOITED

Mrs. Conroy said that a party must be judged by its past performance. She stated that the Liberal party has been in power in the city of Edmonton for the last five years, when it was mainly in the hands of the government. She stated that the Liberal party has been in power in the city of Edmonton for the last five years, when it was mainly in the hands of the government.

One of the laws passed by the Liberal party was the Workmen's Compensation act, in an effort to get a better deal for the workers. The Liberal party was in power in the city of Edmonton for the last five years, when it was mainly in the hands of the government.

EARLY CLOSING ACT

The Early Closing Act was another measure intended to make more livable for workers. In all, the Liberal party has been in power in the city of Edmonton for the last five years, when it was mainly in the hands of the government.

The franchise was given to the women in the province by the Liberal party. The Liberal party was in power in the city of Edmonton for the last five years, when it was mainly in the hands of the government.

OPERATED BY PROVINCE

Dealing with old age pensions Mrs. Conroy said this measure was passed by the federal government. The Liberal party was in power in the city of Edmonton for the last five years, when it was mainly in the hands of the government.
